THE FENIANS.

Mysterious Proceedings at Union-square.—Religion and Politics Excluded from the Brotherhood—Donations—The Fenian Sisters—The "Sacred Rope."

The Central Council of the Fenian Brotherhood still continues in session at Union-square, and so secret are the deliberations of that body that not one of the attendants at headquarters have the remotest idea of the nature of the subjects under discussion. It is stated by some that warlike preparations, on an extensive scale, are being made, and that the plan of the coming campaign is being arranged, while others assert that "the blow" has been indefinitely postponed, and that now England and Canada may rest in peace for some time to come.

The latter supposition is not at all improbable, inasmuch as the Fenians are being adopted by the Head Centre to exclude the introduction of religious and political topics from the debates and speeches at Fenian meetings. It is also understood that none but Fenian papers will be allowed to address any public meeting in the future. Meanwhile, the contributions pour in from all quarters, and the gentlemen in the Treasury Department are kept busily employed in crediting the various sums to the respective Climates.

The Fenian Climates are actively engaged in making extensive preparations for an immense fair to be held in this city in a few weeks. Miss Mary Callahan, the Secretary, has received communications from influential quarters containing offers of sympathy and support, and the Fenian Climates are being devoted to the alleviation of the distress of the families of the Fenian prisoners in Ireland. The late Fenian from Mr. Stephens has presented to the Fenian Climates a small portion of the proceeds of a public sale of his property, and the Fenian Climates are being devoted to the alleviation of the distress of the families of the Fenian prisoners in Ireland.
